

RHODES UNIVERSITY
Where leaders learn

Coordinator: Advanced Certificate in Foundation Phase Literacy Teaching

One of the most important pathways to improving developmental outcomes in a community and for society, is by improving the pedagogical knowledge and skills of its teachers. The Centre for Social Development at Rhodes University (CSD) hereby invites suitably qualified educators to apply for the role of COORDINATOR at the Lecturer level, to coordinate one of two vibrant in-service teacher education programmes offered by the CSD: The Advanced Certificate in Foundation Phase Literacy Teaching.

Through engaging in and drawing on cutting edge early learning and literacy research, we aim to enhance the specialized pedagogical knowledge of practising teachers in several localities around South Africa.

One post is open for 2024 for one-year full-time work based at Rhodes University. Longer-term contracts will be advertised in 2024, and current incumbents will be eligible to apply.

Join our team and make your contribution!

Qualifications and experience required are outlined below:

- At least a Masters degree specialising in Early Childhood Education, Foundation Phase Literacy, or Primary Education related fields
- Experience in teaching in Early Childhood Education, Foundation Phase Literacy, or Primary Education related fields
- Experience in lecturing, tutoring, or facilitating adult learning
- Some track record in coordination, management, and administration
- Knowledge of African languages in South Africa would be a distinct advantage

To apply send your CV, highest qualification, and motivation letter to csd@ru.ac.za Only emailed application will be considered.

For more information contact Fortunate on 046 603 7225

Closing date is 8 January 2024